3. Subject Revision Techniques

Students should focus on complete practice questions. Past papers are the best place to start, all of which can be found on the Physics and Maths tutor website. I would recommend not "using up" all of the papers for revision for this Prelim, as they will want to use that as revision for their final exams. They can use the OCR and AQA papers for revision too, which are also on PMT. They should also aim to practice topics that they are particularly weak on. The questions from the Edexcel textbook Mixed Exercises are good, but if they have already exhausted those, PMT also has targeted sets of questions for specific topics. Just reading through notes is not a sufficient way to revise for Maths, they should be practicing.
